- Provides diagnostic, preventative, and therapeutic health services to patients and family members in a primary care facility, with the ability to function as an independent practitioner at isolated field clinics on Navajo Reservation.
- Secures a medical and developmental history from the patient or parent and performs a detailed physical exam, records findings and makes critical evaluations.
- Orders diagnostic tests and procedure and interprets the results.
- Discriminates between normal and abnormal findings to recognize early stages of physical, physiological, emotional, or mental problems.
- Makes decisions concerning medical care needs of patients which may involve various treatment modalities, medication prescription, and consultant / referral services when appropriate.
- Provides direct and independent medical care in the presence of illness or injury in order to maintain life, provide comfort, reduce distress and enhance coping ability.
- Works collaboratively with physicians in management of selected complex medical problems.
- Provides guidance to field clinic personnel in emergent situations regarding triage and disposition of patients.
- Serves as consultant for other WIHCC staff, including clinic nursing, community health nursing, and other disciplines regarding clinical issues and policies.
- Documents medical care appropriately in the IHS electronic health record, and in keeping with national standards as mandated by CMS and AAAHC. Documentation for completed patient encounters shall be sufficient to support appropriate billing for services by WIHCC.
- Participates regularly in medical staff meetings and activities, including peer review, quality assurance, and performance improvement activities.
- Requires completion of tasks or duties assigned by a supervisor.
- Upholds all principles of confidentiality and patient care to the fullest extent.
- Adheres to all professional and ethical behavior standards of the healthcare industry.
- Adheres to WIHCC's Personnel Policies and Procedures, departmental policies, rules, and regulations.
- Interacts in an honest, trustworthy and dependable manner with patients, employees, visitors, and vendors.
- Possesses cultural awareness and sensitivity.
- Maintains compliance with all Human Resources requirements.
- Performs other duties as assigned.

Minimum Qualifications:

Requires completion of an accredited nursing program, and an accredited Master's degree program as a family nurse practitioner. Requires certification as an advanced practice nurse by the ANCC or AANP; as well as a valid, unrestricted Registered Nurse license, and a license as a Nurse Practitioner, along with prescribing privileges. Candidate must have demonstrated experience with electronic medical record systems. Advanced experience as an FNP is required: minimum of two years demonstrated clinical experience as a licensed FNP in a family practice setting, providing comprehensive care through the lifespan, including urgent or emergency care, preferably with at least 18 months in one location. Bilingual
